CITIZEN COMPLAINT PROCEDURES

The employees of the Plainfield Police Department are carefully selected, highly trained, and serve with pride and professionalism. However deviations from ideal performance can occur. Allegations of misconduct against department personnel are investigated thoroughly and objectively, and appropriate corrective actions are taken to maintain the integrity of the services provided by the Plainfield Police Department.

Complaints can be filed in person, by US Mail, telephone, fax, e-mail, or anonymously from any person who alleges misconduct by a department employee. The complaint should be made by the person involved, his or her attorney, or in the case of a juvenile by a parent or guardian.

All complaints will be reviewed to determine the appropriate departmental response. Allegations of minor violations will be investigated and resolved by informal means by the immediate supervisor of the involved employee. In cases where it is determined that the complaint is substantiated as a violation of departmental policies, the investigating supervisor has the authority to issue verbal or written reprimands, remedial training, or performance counseling to the offending employee. The investigating supervisor also has the authority to determine a complaint to be proper conduct, unfounded, insufficient evidence, or a failure of policy given the specific facts of the incident.

Allegations of criminal acts or serious policy violations will be handled through a formal investigation by an Internal Affairs investigator. If substantiated, these allegations could result in disciplinary proceedings including suspension, demotion, or termination of employment. In these instances, the complainant may be asked to submit to a truth verification exam at the expense of the department and/or to testify at a hearing before the Plainfield Police Department Commissioners Board to determine the appropriate disciplinary sanction.

Generally the investigating supervisor or Internal Affairs investigator has 30 days to conduct and conclude an investigation of a citizen complaint unless extenuating circumstances exist. Upon completion of the investigation and determination of the appropriate action, you will receive notification of the resulting "Conclusion of Fact" either via e-mail or US Mail. The "Conclusion of Fact" will specify if the actions and conduct of the employee were:

Proper Conduct-allegations are true but the actions of the employee were consistent with policy and the complainant suffered no harm.

Improper Conduct-allegations are true and the actions of the employee was inconsistent with policy and the complainant suffered harm.

Policy Failure-allegations are true and although the actions of the employee were not inconsistent with policy, the complainant suffered harm.

Insufficient Evidence-there is insufficient proof to confirm or refute the allegations.

Unfounded Complaint-Either the allegations are demonstrably false or there is no credible evidence to support the claims.
